NEW YORK

~ OVERVIEW ~

I prepare personalized wine dinners in apartments and homes. Combining seasonal produce, local meats and artisan Italian wines, we'll talk about the farmers, butchers, cheese makers, fishermen and winemakers who make Italian food and wine so unique.

I have a deep understanding of the Italian table. In Boston, I served as wine buyer and manager for George Germon and Johanne Killeen of Al Forno Restaurant. In Italy, I lived and worked on olive farms and vineyards, in kitchens and dining rooms and rode my Vespa all around the countryside looking for adventures and stories. In New York, I've served as sommelier at Mario Batali's Babbo restaurant. Most recently I served as wine director at Il Buco and il Buco Alimentari restaurants in New York City. For 10 years A Casa has become my culmination of all of these experiences.

After a consultation and we discuss a menu based on seasonal choices, A Casa does the rest. My assistants and I oversee everything from cooking, setup, serving and cleaning. A Casa even offers live music to complete your evening. Please see the A Casa Musica information below.

Dinners are five courses, each paired with a different wine. I explain each course and it's wine pairing as it's served. You'll learn why old farmers make wine the way they do, the "regionality" that makes Italian cooking so distinctive and how to fully utilize our local markets and products. The events can be everything from a romantic evening for two, a casual get together of close friends, client dinners, or elegant revelry.

Whatever the night entails, A Casa combines the simplicity and freshness of seasonal ingredients, artisan Italian wines, expert service, the joy of friends and comfortable learning all in one completely unique experience.

~ FALL MENU FOR 2014 ~

Below are the dishes featured for the 2014 Fall menu and subsequent wine packages. Please use the food menu only as a guide. Some items may be substituted depending on availability. An important aspect of each dinner is my travels to various markets, cheese mongers, fisherman, importers and butchers...always searching out the finest ingredients.

You'll make a few choices in each category. Then I'll guide you through the different options to create the perfect balance for your menu. It's important not to go overboard so this consultation is an important step.

Ingredients are purely seasonal and only bought from local farmers and butchers and fishermen.

This list features classic, homespun recipes from all over Italy.

Please don't hesitate to contact me about specifics.
